These are the editors of the Canadian Journal of Surgery who guided the journal through 50 years of publication. In the article that follows, the coeditors comment on the challenges they faced and the changes made during their tenure.—Ed.